

Advanced “Finishing” Iconography Workshop in Minneapolis, March 2011

An advanced iconography workshop, with instructor Dmitri Andreyev, will be held in Minneapolis this spring, March 24-27, 2011. It will be a little different than in the past.

First, it will be for 4 days (Thursday - Sunday) rather than the usual week.

Second, there will not be a designated subject icon.

Third, the workshop will be conducted at our studio/home in NE Minneapolis rather than at St. Mary's Orthodox Cathedral. This will provide a more intimate and relaxed environment--more like an iconography studio.

Over the past few years a number of people have asked for the opportunity to finish incomplete icons or having time to work out the finishing details, etc. This four-day workshop will be a chance to do so in a more relaxed time frame.

You will be free to work on any icons that you may have in progress, or to begin a new one. While the focus will not be on a particular image, there will be worthwhile technical and theoretical demonstrations and lectures. Information on these will be announced later but if there's a topic you would particularly like covered, feel free to suggest it.

As David has told students at the University, whatever else, registering for a class is a contractual arrangement where a highly qualified authority is obliged to spend time with you, and in that time you have the freedom and opportunity to make sure that your questions are answered, your needs met, and that any knowledge you need--and that the instructor possesses--gets passed on to you.

Everything will be done as usual. Times will be 8:45 - 5:00 each day (Sunday 1:30 - 5:00). You will bring your own board, pigments, and brushes. Some supplies will be provided or available and processes will be done in the manner of the Prosopon School (egg tempera, etc.).

Tuition is $385. Space will be limited so spots are reserved with a deposit of $200 (checks payable to Marilyn Johnson and sent to the address below).

We look forward to hearing from you. If you've already sent in your deposit, thank you, and you should have heard from us.

David & Marilyn Johnson
Workshop Coordinators

David & Marilyn Johnson
759 NE Pierce St.
Minneapolis, MN 55413
612-378-0606