Pastoral Reflection

Reflection for the New Year: Seeking Christ in All Things

For the observant Orthodox Christian, February is a transitional month.

At the beginning, we celebrate the Great Feast of the Meeting of the Lord (Feb. 2), which itself brings to a conclusion a long, bright deep winter festival period stretching from Advent through Christmas and Theophany to the leave-taking of the Meeting (Feb. 9), which is also the beginning of the Triodion. With the Triodion, things begin to shift as we prepare for Great Lent, which begins on Monday, March 3. This shift is marked by the four preparatory Sundays: Publican and Pharisee (Feb. 9), Prodigal Son (Feb. 16), Last Judgement (Feb. 23), and the Expulsion of Adam and Eve from Paradise (March 2). Each of these weeks offers profound reflections on important spiritual themes as well as changes in diet in anticipation of our Lenten fasting.

Fasting is, together with good works and prayer, a key discipline of observant Orthodoxy. It is a common and popular idea that, on a practical level, Lent is all about making some sacrifices and giving up things. That it is about abstaining from this or that food, giving up select treats and comforts, cutting back on entertainment, avoiding social events and so on.

But while this is partly true - and is actually what happens in some measure for those who try to observe the Fast - the texts concerning Lent - the hymns and prayers and readings for each day of the Fast - emphasize something else. They emphasize that our Lenten discipline and effort is a path to, and an anticipation of, our return to Paradise. The Sunday before we enter Lent sets before us the sad, tragic reality of our Fall from Paradise and calls us to take up those things which are signs and anticipations of Paradise restored.

In Great Lent we anticipate Paradise, the Heaven opened us through the death and resurrection of Christ. Eden restored. Paradise is the Kingdom of God, His good creation restored and renewed. In Paradise we don't eat each other. We don't slaughter and butcher each other. We do not commodify and process each other. For example, the vegan diet recommended to us by the Church for this Lenten season is something positive, an opportunity to participate in the reversal of one of the consequences of the Fall. Another example is that we are called to treat each other compassionately and with love, kindness, and mercy.

The Orthodox theological vision invites us to stretch our imagination, to try on something different, to enrich our experience, by taking up fasting, good works, and prayer seriously for at least this liturgical season. The Lenten way of life is meant to be a foretaste of the Kingdom, of Paradise. Our thinking about fasting and abstinence should not be 'oh my gosh, I have to give something up!' but 'thank goodness I have this window of opportunity to do this thing!'

A verse repeated in the Triodion says: 'Faithful, Let us enter the fast with joy!' February is the month to plan for it. Let's do it!

- Fr. Andrew

President's Column

Recently at the request of Archbishop Daniel, we completed a self-assessment of our parish designed to encourage our parish to identify things that are working well, opportunities for improvement, and ideas for growing closer to Jesus Christ. This self-assessment will support our efforts to identify what our parish has set forth as goals, projects, activities, and service ministries. In addition to this, we identified things that we would like to see the diocese provide, as well as things we have here to share with the diocese and other parishes. This was a valuable exercise that will help us plan initiatives for our parish going forward.

Last fall five members of our parish, Sarah Varian, Anna Memorich, Sophia Miller, Deacon Jason Ketz, and Fr. Ben Tucci attended the Crossroad Institute in Texas, the focus was on Youth Programs. They have received many tools to help make our current youth programs more successful. Part of the group met with the Saints and hope to meet with youth parents for further discussion. More information will be available for the annual meeting.

Both of these initiatives can form a foundation for us to become a stronger, more faithful parish.

On February 23, we will hold our annual meeting, it is essential that all members of the parish attend this meeting. While the most important aspects of our parish life are our faith, worship, and lives as Orthodox Christians, there is still the fact that we have facilities and grounds to take care of, our clergy and staff to compensate.

As I end my second term as president I would like to thank all who have helped and supported me, the officers, board members, and service attendants, all who have contributed their time and talents in service to Christ and our parish. The life of our parish is founded upon the prayers and contributions of all of us.

This has been a job that has been at times interesting, enlightening, frustrating, and enjoyable but always rewarding. I apologize and ask forgiveness of any I have offended over the course of the years.

With Love in Christ,

Jim Varian

2025 Annual Parish Meeting

Sunday, February 23, 2025
at 11:00 AM

The Annual Parish Meeting for members of St. Mary's Orthodox Cathedral will be held on Sunday, February 23, 2025, and begin promptly at 11:00 AM. The meeting (in-person only) will take place at St. Mary's Parish Center (1701 5th St. NE, Minneapolis, MN 55413) in the Dining Room. Coffee and light refreshments will be provided.

Included in the agenda for this meeting: election of officers, trustees, service attendants, and delegates for 2025; and recommendations from the Finance Committee and the Church Board of Trustees.

As a member of St. Mary's, it is your right to attend this important meeting. Members eligible to vote need to have a '2025 Declaration of Membership' card on file in the Cathedral Office and have been a member for six months (August 23, 2024). Not sure if you have a current Declaration of Membership card on file, or if you are a member or not? Check with the Church Office at office@stmarysoca.org or 612-781-7667.

If you wish to continue your membership, please sign and return a declaration of membership card to the Church Office by Friday, February 21. That's all – just sign and return the card. If you need a new card please contact the Church Office. At the close of the 2025 Annual Meeting, members without cards on file for the years 2024 and 2025 will automatically be dropped from the membership roster.

2025 Declaration of Membership Cards & Letters

The 2025 Declaration of Membership cards/letters and times & talents survey were mailed out at the beginning of December. If you have not received your letter in the mail please contact the office at office@stmarysoca.org or (612) 781-7667. It may be that we do not have you in our records as a member, or do not have your current address on file. If you are moving, or have moved recently, please contact the church office with your new address.

Choir Notes

This month begins with the Entrance of the Lord into the Temple which reminds me of the great entrance, the time when the clergy process the bread and wine from the table of oblation to the Altar while the choir sings its most beautifully arranged hymn of the day. The Lord enters the Temple, and it is beautiful. We put a lot into making this so. We see it in the icons, the vestments, the intricate woodworking, and the filigree along the iconostasis. We smell it with the incense, the beeswax candles, the tang of singed altar boy hairs. We taste it in the Body and Blood of Christ, and the antidoron after. And, of course, we hear the beautification of the Temple in the words of the prayers and the music arranged to adorn them.

As you know, these things don't just come into being. A person isn't born as a master iconographer, they may have the talent for it, but that talent needs to be invested in. For this purpose, there is the annual iconography workshop here at the Cathedral.

Choir-wise, we have the Pan-Orthodox Choir Ministry (POCM), a fledgling ministry with aspirations of helping musicians of all talents and interests hone their skills for the beautification of the Lord's Temple, and His Glory. POCM does this through various events and the one coming up that I want to make you aware of is their third annual benefit concert for FOCUS which will be Saturday, February 22, at 7 p.m., the day before Meatfare Sunday at St. Mary's Greek Orthodox Church (3450 Irving Ave S. Minneapolis). It is a free-will concert and all donations go directly to FOCUS. Mark your calendars!

Through the lens of Orthodox culture, concerts are an interesting topic in that they are seemingly completely contrary to prayer and are seemingly all for show, "look at us and hear how good we are!"

However, concerts are not meant to replace prayer, and if you were to talk to the performers, you'd find a significant amount of piety. Many are shy and don't think that they sing very well. Which is something that, any audience member will know immediately is not true (but don't tell them that, humility is a good thing).

In the music world, concerts are more than a show. They are, generically, a tool used to hone the craft. They are the means to the end, not the other way around. In preparing for a concert, the last thing you want to do is mess up or sound bad, especially in front of a room full of strangers! So, musicians practice and practice and practice, resulting in a more beautiful sound which, upon return, will make the Temple all the more beautiful.

But there's more to a POCM concert. Singers from smaller parishes have the opportunity to sing in a big choir. With three different directors leading, singers are exposed to three different directing styles. The directors enjoy the challenge of leading a big choir of mostly new singers. They also get the opportunity to sit back and just sing. Everyone is exposed to different rehearsal styles and layouts leading to the strengthening and developing of skills that can be brought back to home parishes. And arching over all of this, this year's singers are coming from at least five different parishes working together, forming and strengthening friendships; ultimately enriching and strengthening the Orthodox Community here in the Twin Cities area.

I sincerely hope that you will be free to join us on the 22nd of February. Glory to Jesus Christ! Glory to God forever!

Mark Wesche

Before the Parastas Service, which commences at 6:00 p.m., participants are encouraged to place candles at your chosen grave sites. These illuminations glowing in the darkness from their protective ice enclosures have been likened to a "very sacred bridge connecting a grave to the beyond." Come and witness yourself the light you could provide that defies all of winter's darkness. Cold-tolerant votives are available. Refreshments will be served afterwards in the chapel basement. Contact Mike Fredrikson (riksson@gmail.com) with any questions.

New Family History Resource

Have you ever been interested in building a family tree or just finding out more about your ancestors? St. Mary's now has a computer link with which you can access an extensive index of people who were members of the Greek Catholic Church and lived in the Carpatho-Rusyn villages of Becherov, Regetovka, and Ondavka, Slovakia. The link to these church records, a gift from the family of a former member of our parish, will have a permanent home on our parish website. The link is free to use at any time and can be accessed from your home computer or tablet. For those looking for church records from the villages of Komlosa (Chmeľová), or Stebnik, a similar link will be available hopefully in 2025. Here is the link to start researching today: <https://bit.ly/ancestryrecords>. A link is also available on our website home page: www.stmarysoca.org.
